DIRECTIONS FOR ADMINISTERING PRACTICE TEST

The purpose of the Practice Test is to help students and teachers become familiar with the types of questions that will appear on the regular test. It also gives the teacher an opportunity to review the questions and directions with the students and to help them become familiar with computer-based testing. For most effective use, the Practice Test should be administered approximately one week before the regular test administration.

You should become thoroughly familiar with these Directions before administering the Practice Test. In addition, you might find it helpful to review the Stanford 10 Online Administration Guide found on the online testing system under the Ancillaries tab. It contains important information on how to prepare the computers for testing and includes an overview of the test content. It also provides explanations of the various screens you will see on the testing website and offers suggestions for navigating through them. Reading this guide prior to administering a Practice Test session will help ensure your test administration runs more smoothly and efficiently.

Following the administration directions, you will find the correct responses to the questions on the Practice Test. The Appendix also at the end of this document lists other resources available that may be helpful for your online test administration.

When you are ready to begin testing, please make sure all computer work stations have been cleared and that all students have successfully opened the Practice Test. To administer the Practice Test, you will read all text in bold to the students. Text that is not in bold contains instructions for you to read silently to yourself.
