The final Regulations - Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (Buckley Amendment) dated June 1976, no longer requires written parental consent to release student educational records between schools.

These rules state that school officials in school systems in which the student may intend to enroll may release and receive a student's records without written consent of such release.

(Florida, see also Florida State Statute 228.093 and State Board of Education Rule 6A-1.955).
